fulfilled and this fact and a declining tendency in the market for the product led to some selling.

The firmness of the Sterling Exchange market and fairly large engagements of gold for expert exerted only passing unsettling influences. Rumors of an impending advance July I in anthracite coal prices directed attention to those properties, resulting in some sharp gains on moderate transactions. The net changes on the week are irregular and slight, except in a few instances. The aggregate sales

If the bank statement for the week ending June 13 had been made to show clearing house banks up to the close clearing house banks up to the close of business Saturday, it is quite probable the increase of $2,190,750 in the reserve would have been eliminated in part at least. The withdrawal of two millions in gold for export by Saturday's steamers was not included in the current statement, and the gain in cash is, therefore, not a fair estimate. The statement does not show, in a measure, the conditions preveiling during the week, and the large decrease in loans reflects the flurry in stock exchange business of several days since. It is noticeable that money rates displayed a temporary hardness during the last two days of the past week, and this fact bears out the assumption that banks were led to contract their loans for the reason mentioned. Interior remittances continue in heavy volume. It is noteworthy of remark that for the corresponding week one year ago the loans of the New York benks aggregated $507,925,500, or thirty-three millions in excess of the present volume; and yet rates today are higher than at that period. The reserve is about seventeen millions lower. of business Saturday, it is quite prob-

The more encouraging crop prospects erties and the highest figures of the week were recorded for them today. In the industrial group there were few changes of importance, aside from Bay State Gas and Sugar. Sugar made an early concession, railied 1% on inside support and then eased on slightly. The general market closed strong in tone at the top level and with gains of a point in a number of the raiway shares.

The share movement of the week

The share movement of the week was irregular, the range being wide in many instances. With the outset positional and financial uncertainties were reflected in liquidation of long holdings on a fairly large scale and as usual the bears improved the opportunities afforded by the prevailing discouragement. The selling was especially marked in some of the low priced specialities and less satisfactory industrial reports, including those of the iron and sugar trades, contributed to the pressure against the market. The downward movement was strikingly accelerated about the middle of the week by the circulation of what afterward was proved to be a stock jobbing rumor pure and simple, that the president was about to send a viscous message regarding the Cuban situation to Congress. Operators were still rather timid and trading was a good deal on the evening up order. There was not as much nervousness in July as many expected from the rumors which got into circulation yesterday, yet the discount for September narrowed some and was only %c. most of the day. The feeling was on the whole easier and lower prices ruled. Legitimate news was not very important; cables were easier and the receipts in the northwest were again heavy, but there were a good many crop damages reported, many correspondents sharply taking issue with the government report. But the trade was too light to get up much interest and the feeling was weak for a time and prices went of %.
